City police also issued quite a few tickets for the same offense Monday and have been alerted to do so.

Plans For City-County Hospital Are Studied

Plans for the new City-County Hospital, to be built here in the near future, have been tentatively approved by the County Commissioners, according to Judge W. E. Button. However the state and federal architects have not agreed on the plans and work can not begin before they pass upon them. It is expected that this will be worked out within a very short while.

Judge Button states that the county's part of the money of $750,000 is in the bank ready for the project.

The county is in sound condition and has for the first time in its history over $1,000,000 on deposit over and above the fund set aside for the new hospital.

Registration Tax On Cars Shows Increase

Registration fees in Collin County this year amounted to $272,030.86 up to April 7 according to a report given by Lewis Baldwin county tax collector-assessor. This is in comparison to $256,518.96 collected last year, showing an increase of $15,511.90.

This year's registration fee involved 16,127 vehicles, as compared to 15,587 registered the previous year.

Of the amount of taxes received, $161,007.88 will be retained in Collin County, according to Mr. Baldwin. The big increase in car taxes is attributed mainly to the seven sub-stations which operated throughout the county, making it possible for many car owners to register their cars here rather than out-of-the county, as has been done before. Many persons, employed in other cities, have previously registered in the town of their employment. However the substations provided a convenience for them, and save a trip to the county capital to secure their license tags.

Lake Lavon Full

Lake Lavon, in Southeast Collin County, was near the normal poin Monday, following the rain in Sherman and East Fork watershed Saturday night. East Fork, Pilot and Sister Grove creeks were all running from two-thirds full to brim-full Sunday evening. Sister Grove having overflowed its banks at several places.

The creeks, which feed Lake Lavon, were expected to bring the lake level to 472 feet, which is normal. On April 11, the lake level was reported to be 470.25 feet.

Prior to the Saturday night rains, the lake was reported on Saturday as having more water than Grapevine, Garza-Little Elm and Benbrook reservoirs and Lake Dallas combined. It has been definitely assured by Manager A. P. Rollins that North Texas Municipal Water District, composed of ten towns, and Dallas, will be tapping water from Lavon by January 1, 1957.

Progress on structures moving the water from the lake to the towns in the district, as well as Dallas, was slowed down from several months due to a steel shortage, but is still on schedule and all indications point to the use of Lavon water by or before the deadline date.

Lake Lavon held 128,300 acre-feet of water Saturday. Despite the drouth, the water line behind the big dam was less than two feet below "normal pool" level. (An acre-foot is 326,000 gallons.)

In contrast, Lake Dallas held only 46,500 acre-feet; Garza-Little Elm, 27,290; Benbrook, 14,230; and Grapevine, only 24,920.

All this caused one wag to remark, "We ought to advertise that Lake Lavon is a lake with water."

Rollins gave a "progress report" of the big water treatment plant. He said the job of laying the big mains was "well advanced." The water lines are going toward Dallas, Garland, Wylie, McKinney, Plano, Princeton, Farmersville, Mesquite, Rockwall and Royse City.

"We've made enormous progress during the last 30 days." He showed newsmen the big water treatment plant, which he said, will treat 40,000,000 gallons of water a day—"with provisions that two more clarifloculators can be added to step it up to 60,000,000 gallons a day."

"The water district's contract with Dallas calls for a minimum take of 7,500,000 gallons a day and a maximum draw of 15,000,000 gallons a day," Rollins explained.

"The other 10 towns will use about 12,000,000 gallons a day altogether," he said.

"At the start in January we expect to see about 25,000,000 gallons a day drawn from the lake."

Rollins and E. H. Ingram and Ormond Stone, engineers for Forrest & Cotton, Dallas engineering firm, said the water will be "thoroughly treat" before it enters the network of mains.

"The lime is for softening and the ferrate sulphate for coagulation," explained Stone. "We will perfect the taste and the color of the water, and there will be filtering for the removal of bacteria as an added precaution, and chlorination as needed."

Rollins isn't worried about the drouth, either.

"The engineers estimate," he said, "that even through a drouth like the last five years, Lake Lavon would have supplied 35,000,000 gallons of water a day—under most extreme conditions."

"Under normal rainfall conditions Lavon would furnish 50,000,000 gallons a day."

He said latest contracts were for big storage tanks for Farmersville, Plano and Rockwall.

Newest project will be the start of excavation work Monday for the district's $582,000 raw water pump station near Lavon dam. A 60-foot excavation will be dug for the centrifugal pumping equipment.

He said the pump station had an "initial design capacity of 35,000,000 gallons a day" and is designed to step this up to 60,000,000 gallons.

Wayne Phillips, student at NTSC, Denton, had as his weekend guests, his classmates, Bobby Beard, Edward Williamson and Jerry McCarty.

Tools Taken From Tractor Near Weston

County Officers Standerfer and Ramsey were called to the Ernest Rigsby farm, a mile South of Weston, Friday to investigate the robbery of a battery, battery case, and an assortment of wrenches, all taken from a tractor, parked in a field, a quarter of a mile from the road.

Deputies Standerfer and Ramsey also investigated a freak traffic mishap in Farmersville Friday in which a car ran into a house there, causing $250 to the house and $300 damage to the car. The driver, who lost control of the car, was only slightly injured.

Night Patrolmen Day and Hatfield, report the arrest of a Plano Negro for simple assault, and the arrest of a Sherman man whom they found drunk in his car.

The second raid included nine half-pints of wine, three half-pints of gin and seven cans of beer.

Progress Shown In CC Reports Here Tuesday

By FRANCES STOGDILL

Bassett Watson, head of the Industrial Development Department for the Texas Power & Light Company, Dallas, was guest speaker at the quarterly membership meeting of the McKinney Chamber of Commerce held here Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was open to the public to hear the reports of directors, and get first hand information on plans for community improvement under their leadership.

President A. H. Witherspoon welcomed the large group, with Rev. Baldwin Stribling, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, giving the invocation.

Manager Pat Simpson read minutes of the previous monthly board meeting, and also recorded proceedings of the July-day afternoon session.

In the report by directors, A. H. Eubanks, speaking for the auditing committee, announced the Chamber of Commerce books for the fiscal year ending February 28, 1956, were in excellent order, and complimented Mrs. Clara Reddell, secretary, for the neat and competent manner in which they were kept.

Eubanks is also chairman of the membership committee which is holding a continuous drive this year, in an effort to add members to the organization throughout the year. Twelve new members have been enrolled since January 1, this year, and an effort is being made to have every business man or firm in the community, actively engaged in this organization.

Hansford Ray reported for the Hospital committee of which he is chairman, stating that indications are good for the $2,000,000 appropriation for the Veterans Hospital here, to pass the Senate.

He also brought the group up-to-date on the progress of the construction to bring water from Lake Lavon to the ten towns in the North Texas Municipal Water District, and Dallas. The final three contracts will be let in May, and all work is on schedule.

A novel idea for spreading "Dope about McKinney" was introduced by J. C. Andrews, chairman of the public relations committee, who outlined the workings of his group, stressing to those persons, who are employed in businesses which have constant contact with tourists and visitors to the city, to speak a good word for McKinney. A letter is being prepared to send to employers and employes of eating and drink establishments, hotels, motels, garages and service stations, asking their support, and to be good will embassadors for McKinney.

Andrews also reported on the U. S. Chamber of Commerce meeting held recently in Fort Worth.

The road and highway work in Collin County was given by Judge W. E. Button, reporting for the transportation committee. He stated that the contract for a continuation of Highway 78, from Lavon to the Dallas County line has been let. The section of the roadway from Lavon to Wylie, has been completed. He also reported that work was underway on the Farm Road to Lowery Crossing, via the Country Club road, to Branch and connecting with the road South of Princeton leading into the Lake Lavon area.

Judge Button also stated that work had been underway on the Expressway for some two weeks.

He announced that architects are studying plans for the new City-County Hospital to be constructed at Northeast McKinney. The County Commissioners and Board of the Hospital tentatively approved the architect's plans for a 132-bed one story institution, however state and federal architects are disagreed upon the size, at this time. As soon as the plans are approved work will begin. The money for the county's part of the hospital is in the bank, and state money will be available when we are ready for it, he announced.

Mayor W. R. West stated the new sewer disposal plant was nearing completion and will soon be in operation.

The soil and water situation was outlined by W. E. Dungan, committee chairman, stating that resolutions had been sent to other CC organizations in the district, concerning legislation which threatens to cripple the program here. The committee is working to get the resolutions passed at the East Texas annual Chamber of Commerce convention in Greenville this week-end.

The theme of the meeting centered around industrial plans for this vicinity. Johnny Whisenant, chairman of this committee, outlined the plans underway, and gave reports on four good prospects which have been contacted. He feels the city is now in a position to offer something tangible to a prospect for locating here. Brochures are being prepared on available locations, showing maps, and other salient facts, which will be sent to prospects.

One of the plans for operation is to have options on land available for sites. In fact one option has already been drawn up and it is hoped to have others soon.

Mr. Whisenant introduced the speaker for the day, who in turn complimented the CC upon the splendid reports and aggressiveness of these business men for their interest in their town.

Mr. Watson explained his work with the Texas Power & Light Company and the 52 counties which is serves. He gave statistics showing the increase in cities and the decrease in rural areas, and the reason for this change in populations.

His chief aim is bring industry to the Southwest and working with the civic groups throughout his area in this respect. He gave many helpful suggestions, not only to the members of the local CC but to the citizenship at large, on how to sell McKinney to a prospective industrialist.

He listed numerous reasons for industry moving, many big plants coming toward this section of the country from the East. Some of these reasons include labor problems, increased taxes, cost of transportation, remodeling, and others. In moving these concerns are looking for towns with the essential utilities, stable and honest government, good citizenship, clean and attractive towns, fair tax structure, good labor supply, schools and churches, and housing facilities.

He urged the committee to have sites available to show when a prospect is invited, along with many other valuable suggestions.

Charts, showing the value of a new industry in a committee, which had been compiled by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, were exhibited during Mr. Watson's talk.

He made a forceful, informative and most interesting address, which was well received by those present. The meeting closed with an informal social period at which time the Collin County Bank was host for refreshments of coffee, orangeade and cookies.

Machinery has been moved in and work begun on a two and a half mile section of the highway centering at Rowlett Creek, between Allen and Plano. Work will extend North and South from the creek in this section.

Beginning Monday, the section between the McKinney city limits and the intersection of State Highway 121 and the new road, West of Fairview, will be started.

UNUSUAL . . . .

Seen About Town

By CAPT. ROY F. HALL

Quite a scare we had Saturday night over the tornado warning. It came about like this. The radar at Fort Worth Weather station picked up a funnel-shaped cloud West of Grapevine, that was headed for McKinney, and alerted the TV and radio stations. Many people saw the warning, and many called me. The Fort Worth weather station also called me and wanted to know how we were doing. I had a hard time making them understand that there was no tornado here and there was no indication of one to the Southwest either. The alert was called off. The radar doubtless picked up one of those twirling clouds that sift the air most of the late afternoon. No tornado conditions here, but time to be warned anyway. A police car was sent out beyond Farmersville to spot the tornado and radio the warning back to town. Please don't underestimate these tornado warnings from the Weather Bureau. Their radar can spot a tornado a hundred miles away. From out in the Southwest part of McKinney I can see a tornado approaching, provided it is not obscurred by rain, and will notify KMAE immediately. At night, of course, unless you are alerted over the air, you'll have to call me.

Was in Roy Raper's welding shop on West Louisiana last week, and was surprised at the amount of work they do on tractors, and surprised too, to find that many tractors on farms have been in operation for ten years and more. I was informed that the shop has yet to find a welding job they were unable to do. Funny thing happened there a few years ago, Roy told me. He said that while doing a welding job a white-hot chunk of metal bounced over under the big acetylene tank on the outside of the building and set it off. The huge tank went straight up above the building and exploded in the air. No reason why it should, but it did. I have seen trench-mortar shells jump high off the ground and explode, when there was nothing, apparently, to cause them to do so.

Judge Button has asked me to serve as chairman of the Collin County Historical Committee. This committee works with the State Historical Committee in marking and preserving old landmarks in the county. I might miss somebody who would like to serve on this committee, so if you would like to do so, please call me.

George Vinders, who lives down near the Textile Mill, said he saw a car going down South Chestnut Saturday with two women in it. A common sight in McKinney, of course, where so many of the fair sex drive cars, but the driver of this machine was waving her arms about the screaming like a wild-cat. George said. George stopped his car, got out and took after the other car on foot. He caught it still going. But the woman wouldn't stop, just sat there screaming with the car traveling about ten miles an hour. He finally discovered that her brakes had failed completely. Got her calmed down, and called for a mechanic. That's all to the good. George, but that ten miles an hour. You had to run at least eleven miles an hour to overtake her, and, as you say you started 50 yards behind her it would take you nine seconds to get up there, and by that time the car would have rolled another 45 yards. You gained on her at the rate of not over five yards a second, and knowing your avoirdupois, that is about all you can do, you had to travel 278 and one-half yards to catch her. I called old George on this, but he wouldn't buck up an inch.

While on the subject of cars, do you know that over half the drivers around town are members of the specie that is more deadly than the male? Just for the book, I counted 115 cars Saturday, and found that 63 of them were driven by our women and girls. Went down on the cut-off, and counted 200. I found that 147 were driven by the male gender and the rest by women. I saw no young girls driving cars on Highways 75. Statistics show that women havemore mishaps than men while driving, but their accidents are usually of a minor nature.

Well, like the colored man I heard in a grocery store the other day, who said, after paying for his small box of food, "I'm done with these high prices." I'm "done" with this drought, so look for rain toward and during the week-end. Selah.

Paris Wildcats Wallop Lions By Score 17-4

By NORMAN SCOTT

The Paris Wildcats, last year's state champions, and current District 9-AA leaders, pounded 3 McKinney hurlers for 22 hits as they walloped the Lions, 17-4 at the VA Park Friday afternoon.

Every man in the Paris lineup hit safely at least once with centerfielder Frank Jackson leading the way with 4 for 5, including a two-bagger. Third-baseman Ellis, catcher Kyle, short-stop player, and pitcher Jorden, all had 3 safeties to their credit to join Jackson in the hit parade for the Wildcats. Ellis had a double and triple and Player connected for a home run in leading the Paris crew's extra-base production. Left-fielder Campbell joined his mates in the extra-base department with a triple.

The Wildcats sewed up the contest in their first turn at bat with a 7-run outburst on 8 base-hits in the top of the first, and scored in every inning there after until the affair was halted after six innings by the 10-run lead rule.

Lion second-baseman Jesse Sanchez continued his heavy hitting as he connected for 2 doubles and a single in 3 trips to the plate for a

Anna Wins Over Alla By Score 12 To 9

36B Baseball District was nailed down tighter Wednesday as Anna Coyotes out battled Alla and wound up with a 12 to 9 decision at Anna. It left Anna in first place and moved the losing blackcats into third place behind Frisco.

Anna outhit the losers by identical margins as their runs, but it was the Alla bats that resounded loudest against the fences. Alla's catcher, Mike Lucas, sent the first pitch to him in the second inning sailing high and free over the left field fence, 327 feet away. Jim Hollandsworth, Alla left fielder, sent an identical ball over in the fifth. But Alla could muster no rally and fell short in the sixth as they scored one run only. Bo O'Neal led the winners with two singles and a double for batting honors. For the losing Alla cause, Frank Svoboda slapped three for four. He now has hit safely in 11 out of the past 15 trips to the plate. He accounted for 4 of the runs.

Phipps was the winning pitcher, relieving Littrel in the 3rd. Simpson was charged with the loss.

Alla Blackcats Defeat Frisco Score 9 To 8

Alla Blackcats strolled in front of Frisco on Friday the 13th to blast out a 9 to 8 win over the Coons despite the fact that Frisco outhit the Alla team 16 hits to 7. The thriller, that was unreeled on the winners diamond, knocked Frisco from first position, leaving Alla, Anna and Frisco fighting for the first three spots.

Alla could manage but 7 hits, but coupled with 4 costly Frisco errors, they fought in the clutches to eek out the one run win. Things broke loose for the Frisco nine in the opening frame as they managed three runs. They counted two more in the second, and picked up one each in the 6th and 1th. Alla, on the other hand, were held scoreless until the 3rd when they backed up six hits and three Frisco errors to bring 8 batters across the plate. They picked up the winning run in the 6th inning when Willard walked followed by free passes to Johnson and Logan.

Lynn Logan went the distance for Alla, allowing 16 hits, but tightening up in the clutches. B. Mays started for Frisco and was relieved by G. Mays in the second who was charged with the loss. Kenneth Simpson, Alla's third sacker had two singles for three official times at the plate for Alla leading hitter. For Frisco, Danny Smoutherman and Bill Reynolds both boosted 3 for 4.

Alla can next be seen on Tuesday when they travel to Celina for a 36B encounter.

Eleven Cubs Initiated Into Lions Club

Initiation of new Cubs into the Lions Club took place at the weekly luncheon-program meeting of the club Wednesday, held at the First Methodist Church.

All Cubs were seated together at one table, and opened the meeting with their version of club songs. Tailtwister Jack Pratt conducted the preliminary initation, preceding the luncheon. Lion H. C. Hoy gave the invocation, and Lion President J. M. Whisenant presided over the short business period, giving the announcements.

The club voted to hold a "Caravan Sales for the Blind" at an early date, following an explanation of project by Clinton Blakesley, of Fort Worth, manager for the sales company. Merchandise will include brooms, mops and other household items, all of which were made by the blind. A percentage from the sales will be retained by the club for their many worthy projects, one of which is helping the blind.

The initiation ceremony was conducted by Lion Judge W. C. Dowdy, emphasizing that the Cubs were not becoming Lions "because of what the club can do for you, but what you can do for the club. You are not in the club for monetary reasons but for service. This organization is a service organization—we do for others, not for ourselves." He elaborated on the functions, projects and many worthwhile aspects of such an organization, stressing the obligations of each member, and closed by saying "we must plan, we must work, we must accomplish."

Pins, certificates and car decals were given to each of the following new members: Lions J. A. Malone, Otho Nicholas, Joe Simpson, Norman Scott, Tommy Watson, James Ford, James Stewart, Gene Kissinger, Carlos Carter, L. L. Jacobs and Leon Allen.

This week the club is meeting at the First Christian Church with Lions Bob Clark and Kenneth Chambers in charge of the program.

High Student Gives Views On "Dragging"

Editor's Note — The following editorial was published in the current issue of the Lion's Roar, student publication of Boyd High School, titled: "What Is The Answer?"

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?
By MIKE FLANAGAN

During the past few weeks, there has been quite a lot of attention given to dragging on city streets by high school students. Like so many other things done by today's teenagers, this thing is misunderstood.

Undoubtly, the teenagers are guilty and some citizens want to know why their children are out on city streets after dark dragging. We teenagers want to know something, too, why are the teenagers out on the streets in the first place?

Every teenager in town knows the answer—there is nothing else to do. There is virtually nothing in McKinney for a high schooler to do to stay off the streets. For example, in order to play minature golf, bowl, or skate at a good skating rink, one must go entirely out of the county.

A teenager has two main choices for an evening's entertainment; he may stay at home or go to the show. McKinney has two theaters, a regular theater and a drive-in. That's a grand variation, isn't it? Before someone says something about McKinney's youth center, let us say that we do have a wonderful building. It takes more than a building to make a good youth center, however.

Why don't the citizens of McKinney wake up? When will there be enough entertainment for teenagers to keep them off the streets? If some one will start the ball rolling, places for teenagers will not be a financial burden they will pay for themselves.

If this does not work, then build them a drag strip and put it under adult supervision.

Our ideas may not be the solution to McKinney's teenage problem, but it could be the one needed step in the right direction.

Miss Cundiff Wins Award Of State Home Demonstration Clubs

MISS LYNN CUNDIFF

COLLEGE STATION — Lynn Cundiff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cundiff of Allen in Collin County, has been selected as one of three 4-H club girls to receive a $500 T. H. D. A. scholarship according to a statement released by Floyd Lynch, State 4-H club leader.

The Texas Home Demonstration Association annually awards three $500 scholarships — the Maggie B. Barry, T. H. D. A. and the Helen B. Smith — to contestants who are judged on 4-H demonstrations, 4-H leadership and personal development. Six contestants were selected by the judging committee, Grace Ferguson, Manager of Hopkins County Electric Co-op, Sulphur Springs, and Mary Louise Graham of Comanche County were the other two members of the committee.

During nine years of 4-H club work Lynn has had practical experience in homemaking right along with the demonstrations she is carrying. These have included safety, bedroom improvement, furniture refinishing and upholstering, landscaping, recreation, public speaking and junior leadership.

A petite little blonde, Lynn is a junior at Celina High School. She gives credit to her home and community for much of this. Small communities have some advantages, Lynn points out in her record. "In our church each member must do his part to carry on the program," she writes. "I have had some office in the church as long as I can remember. Each member of our small school is given an opportunity to perform before crowds and learn leadership."

As a junior leader for a club of 12 younger 4-H Club girls for three years, Lynn has had a chance to pass along her experience and training. In addition to this, she has helped to plan and carry out special county, district and State 4-H activities. She has served as a delegate on the State 4-H council, as a junior leader and has helped to lead recreation and other activities at State 4-H Roundup. At present she is the co-chairman elect of the State 4-H council.

Lynn said she prefers cooking to many household duties. With her mother often helping in her dad's business, he gets lots of practice. "I always try to have a balanced meal" she says. "I like to try new recipes, especially sea food dishes, on of dad's favorite foods."

Recreation has been one of her major demonstrations. She feels it has helped her to share ideas and fun with other and develop self-confidence and poise.

Lynn has a long list of awards to her credit — club, county, district and state. She was chosen county Gold Star girl in 1952. Winning a Santa Fe award trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago last year was sort of crowning glory. It opened up another area of 4-H relationships — association on the national and international scale.

Her career in 4-H club work has been supervised by Miss Eurline Daspit, county home demonstration agent, her leader, Mrs. Faye Hodson, and her parents.

In September, Lynn plans to use her scholarship to enter college possibly Texas Tech. She plans to major in some phase of home economics.

Annual Southwestern Auditions To Be Held In Dallas

Robert H. Davis and Miss Tennie Strickland of McKinney, have been invited to send promising singers to Dallas on May 11 to compete in the second annual Southwestern regional auditions for the Metropolitan Opera. Paul M. Rogers, vice chairman of the regional auditions announced in Dallas. "We welcome all promising talent from Texas and New Mexico," Rogers said. "So long as they are sponsored by a recognized music group or instructor."

Max Rudolf, artistic director of the Metropolitan Opera, will select a winner from the Southwestern auditions who will go to New York City to compete with other regional winners in sing on the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air. The winner of the Auditions of the Air, broadcast nationally by the American Broadcasting Company, usually receives a contract with the Metropolitan Opera.

The auditions will be held in the studios of radio station WFAA in Dallas. On May 12 all applicants will be heard by a specially selected panel of conductors headed by Walter Hendl, conductor of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra. Ten finalists will be chosen from the entire group to sing for Max Radolf on May 12.

The Metropolitan Auditions of the Air have provided winners of the past with the direct stepping stone to operatic fame. Patrice Munsel was an auditions winner. So were Leonard Warren, Eleanor Steber, Margaret Harshaw, Frances Greene, Regina Resnik and Frank Guarrera. Risë Stevens was an auditions finalist and after completing additional study returned to the Metropolitan to become one of its most famous and dramatic stars. Singular success was enjoyed by the mezzo-soprano, Rosalind Elias, who was engaged to sing at the Opera House prior to completion of the Auditions series.

Applications for the 1956 regional auditions should be returned by candidates to The National Council of the Metropolitan Opera Southwestern Regional Auditions, 2419 Maple Avenue, Dallas, Texas. A registration fee of $5 must accompany the application.

McKinney Fisherman Invents "Little Pal" Rod And Reel Holder

Gibson Harris of McKinney has put into manufacture the "Little Pal" rod and reel holder his own invention which he has been working on for about eight years. The holder is gaining the popularity of fishermen everywhere it has been used, because of its easy handling and convenience.

The holder was on exhibit at the recent Sports Show in Dallas and created considerable interest. The Little Pal Manufacturing Company of Grand Prairie is making the item and it is already being placed on the market.

The holder clamps to the boat and can be used for still fishing or trolling. One of its best advantages is the protection it offers a rod and reel.

Harris has been using the holder for some five years, experimenting with it and getting it to perfection before getting patented. He placed it in the hands of the manufacturer about three months ago. He has been informed from several sources that it is meeting the enthusiastic favor of fishermen who have used it and is still gaining popularity.

The means some people use in getting ahead in this world probably means they are getting behind the next.

Rita Sells prepared a chocolate rum tower pudding with whipped cream.

The team of Patsy Estep and Mary Warden made cheese chops with a delicious creole sauce.

Beverly Slate gave her Custard Float with ice cream, which was most delicious.

Sue Carter and her teammate, Sherrie Fisher, gave a "tossed salad" with homemade dressing, which was also good.

Infestation In Collin Fields Is Reported By Agent

By VIRGIL L. DAHLBERG
County Agent

Aphids On Legumes

The Two-Spotted Clover Aphid has been found heavily infesting alfalfa in scattered fields in Collin County. This aphid is whitish-yellow, 1/16 to 1/12 inch long or about 1/2 the size of the pea aphid. It feeds in groups usually on the underside of the lower leaves. The yellow clover aphid sucks juices from leaves often causing them to shed, and produces honeydew which usually supports sooty molds. Heavy infestations of the aphids cause a reduction in yields of hay and the sooty mold found on the honeydew reduces quality. Where heavy deposits of honeydew are present it is difficult to dehydrate, cut and bale into hay.

Alfalfa and clover fields should be checked frequently for damaging infestations of this insect. Recent tests conducted by Experiment Station workers indicate that these aphids can be effectively controlled with 1 pint of a 2 pound parathion emulsion concentrate per acre or 3/4 to 1 pint of a 5 pound malathion emulsion concentrate per acre.

Precautions — Forage Crops treated with parathion should not be grazed or cut for hay within 3 weeks of treatment while those treated with malathion may be grazed or cut for hay within 10 days after treatment. Legumes which are heavily infested with yellow clover aphids and will be cut for hay in less than 3 weeks should be cut and baled as soon as possible. After hay is harvested. Control measures may be necessary to protect the young growth.

Controlling the Pecan Nut Casebearer . . .

The pecan nut casebearer is one of the few insects that can be controlled with one application of an insecticide.

The secret to controlling the casebearer is the time of the application of the insecticide. About the time the nuts set is when the moths of adults of this insect come out to lay their eggs. The casebearers should be sprayed soon after pollination or about the time the tips of the tiny nuts turn brown. The tiny nuts can be inspected for the case bearer eggs and if the eggs are present, it is time to spray. The spray will not do any good after the worms enter the nuts.

Use three lbs. of 50 per cent wettable DDT or two lbs. of wettable parathion for 100 gallons of spray. For the insecticide to be effective, the sprayer must get up to 600 lbs. pressure. For small orchards like those in back yards, it is advisable to hire someone with proper equipment to spray the pecan trees if available.

Leaflet L-245 "Guide for Controlling Insects and Diseases of Fruits and Nuts in Texas" is available from our office. This leaflet gives the information needed for the control of many insects, including the pecan nut casebearer.

Good citizenship was stressed in many of the posters done by the L. L. Greer (North) Ward school children in the recent Litterbug Poster contest. They showed it was also the responsibility of the children to keep the parks and playgrounds free of litter, put the trash in cans where it belongs and pointed out it should carry over into the home where the children had a part in keeping their home and property clean.

Judges for this school were Mrs. Marshall Searcy and Mrs. J. B. Merriman. Winners in the contest were:

Mrs. Powers' Second grade: James Rollins, Sheila Ellis, Cherry Cain, Glen Crim and Jimmy David Denison.

Mrs. Wheeler's third grade: Karen Gleaves, Paul Kozma, Mary Bell Lawson, Dudley Harlow, Marilyn Holt.

Mrs. Fry's Fourth grade: Toni Funnicella, Robert Reynolds, Richard Jenkins.
